NARI WELCOMES NEW CERTIFIED REMODELING PROJECT MANAGER

(City, State), (Date) – (chapter name) or (company name) is pleased to announce that (name of certified individual) has recently achieved the prestigious Certified Remodeling Project Manager (or other certification) status.

A Certified Remodeling Project Manager (CRPM) designation professionalizes the role of managing a remodeling project. A CRPM has oversight of every aspect of the remodeling project—project planning, communications, project cost management, quality assurance, risk management and recordkeeping. Those with this designation will be taught to work toward mastering these project components in order to drive end-customer satisfaction and profitability of remodeling projects.

Quote from the CRPM about the importance of having project management skills.

The first step to attaining the Certified Remodeling Project Manager certification is to complete a qualification form, which outlines an individual's background of experience and education in remodeling. Eligibility requirements include working full time in the remodeling field for at least two years and passing a comprehensive assessment exam. Preparation for this exam takes up to 8 weeks of intensive study, offered through NARI's study group programs, to prepare them for the written examination.

Quote about the dedication and commitment required to complete the CRPM program and why continued education is important for remodeling professionals.

NARI's CRPM program measures skill and expertise valued not only by other professional remodelers, but by consumers as well. Highly respected by those who have achieved the designation, the CRPM program identifies professional remodelers who have undergone comprehensive review and testing in areas of business management, ethical conduct, and technical skills. In addition, they must also adhere to NARI's strict Standards of Practice and Code of Ethics.
